Kellogg & Andelson Accountancy Corporation Acquires Irwin Pomerantz & Associates

Los Angeles, CA — February 24, 2009- Kellogg & Andelson Accountancy Corporation, a leading provider of accounting services to the business community, announced that it acquired Beverly Hills based Irwin Pomerantz & Associates.

Irwin Pomerantz & Associates was founded in 1962. Before branching off on his own, Irv began his accounting career with the firm David Belinkoff & Co in 1948, where he remained until 1950, leaving only because his patriotism led him to join the National Guard. Upon his return, he rejoined his passion and became a partner at David Belinkoff & Co. Irv formed his own firm in 1962 when David Belinkoff & Co decided to disband.

This marks the second acquisition that Kellogg & Andelson has acquired since the beginning of the year. K&A acquired Barry Ira Goldstein & Company in January; marking this as the 9th firm purchased since 2007. “We are anticipating a very exciting busy season this year with the addition of Mr. Pomerantz’s clients and are glad to welcome Mr. Pomerantz to Kellogg & Andelson. Mr. Pomerantz’s firm and ours are built on very similar business principles, so I am confident that his clients will feel right at home from the get go,” said Christian Payne, President and Chief Executive Officer of Kellogg & Andelson. Mr. Payne further noted to anticipate many more acquisitions in the coming year.

“In deciding to sell, I wanted to associate with a firm that could ensure that my clientele would continue to receive excellent service. After numerous discussions with its CEO, and meeting with other principals who had been acquired by K&A, I decided that Kellogg & Andelson best matched my personal future plans and offered the best opportunities for my clients,” reported Irwin Pomerantz, owner Irwin Pomerantz and Associates.
